Vertical Project Control - includes researching vertical datum records and benchmark information and establishing vertical control points that are referenced to NAVO datum.

Topography/ DTM (3D) - includes the field survey work required to pick up select areas of topographical features and ground points. A survey of the entire corridor is not needed.

Processing data files - Includes the processing of the raw data files into CADD-compliant topographic drawings and Quality control reviews of the data.

Roadway Analysis

Typical Section analysis and selection - includes the review of the existing lane and shoulder widths, front slopes, traffic data and functional classification of the roadway. Analysis of this data and an understanding of the projected future use will result in the creation of a proposed Design Speed and typical section for the project.

Pavement Design analysis and selection - includes the collection of traffic loading data (including projected traffic for the design service year) and modulus numbers for the subgrade soils. Using this information, a required structural number will be established and a pavement design will be prepared in accordance with the FOOT Flexible Pavement Design Manual.

Evaluation of Critical Design Elements - includes an analysis of the design speed, lane widths, shoulder widths, bridge widths, horizontal alignment, super-elevation, vertical alignment, grade, stopping sight distance, cross slope and clear recovery area. These design criteria for these elements will be established and met if feasible. When any of the critical design elements cannot meet the established design criteria,
